AMUSEMENTS TO NIGHT.

GROVER'S THEATRE.-The fine comedy of the "Rivals" is announced for to-night again.
Its representation by the Warren Comedy combination is a treat rarely enjoyed, and those who wish to see comedy at its best should be present to night. The engagement of Mr. Warren and his combination terminate on Saturday night. VARIETIES.—Go see Fitz Simmon's "Female Pickpocket of Washington, or High and Low Life in the Capital," ye who love sensation. There is a good deal of fun in the play, which is of a local character. The songs, dances, &c., are not neglected by reason of the drama.

CANTERBURY .- Mr. Lea always has crowded houses. The reason is plain. The company is a splendid one, and the performances are rich, rare, and racy. The Fowler Sisters, John Denier, John Mulligan, Billy Emmerson, Szollossy, Cavanagh, Dougherty, and the others, cannot be beat in their respective parts.

FORD'S THEATER .- A military drama, "The Deserter, or Military Execution," is announced for to-night at this popular resort. The Florences have the principal parts, of course, and in their hands there can be no doubt of the success of the play. Taylor's protean comedietta, "A Lesson for Husbands," will conclude the evening's entertainment. The Florences are drawing great houses.

THIRD WARD DRAFT MEETING .- A meeting of the citizens of the Third Ward was held last night at Temperance Hall, to take measures to avoid the impending draft, which, although not largely attended, was quite a respectable gathering. The meeting was called to order by Mr. J. S. Hollingshead, and Mr. N Larner was called to the chair, and Mr. E R. McKean appointed secretary.

Mr. Larner remarked on taking the chair that some of the draft officers had been consulted, and it was ascertained that the quota of the Ward now was but little over one hundred. Since the first of the month, the enrollment of the District had been reduced over 400 by the exemption of persons on account of erroneous enrollment, &c. He thought that the most feasible plan was to appoint canvassers to solicit subscriptions, and he was satisfied that it would work. One hundred men can be secured for $16,000, which could be raised, should every man in the Ward subject to draft pay $15, and he thought no one would refuse. His plan would be to offer a bounty of say two hundred dollars each for recruits, to which could be added the twenty dollars paid by the Corporation, and if more was needed, more could be obtained. Much had been said against the Corporation, when it had done all that it could do under the powers granted by Con-gress. Te save the city from the draft, important bills had been left unpaid, and the treasury nearly bankrupt. The Government pays $300 premium for recruits, to which, if added to a Ward bounty of $200, would make a bounty which would attract men. As for getting substitutes, that business was nearly played out, but he was satisfied recruits could be obtained.

Mr. R. H. Steele said that as sure as the sun rises the draft would come off on Monday next, unless General Fry had good reason to believe that the quota would be filled by volunteering. He was assured that the quota of the ward was not now over 120 and he thought abounty fund of $16,000 amply sufficient. He suggested that a sum of money be deposited in bank, of which $50 would be paid to every man presenting a certificate that he had put a man in the service, and this would set men at work. Mr. Job Angus remembered that Col. Alex-der, of the 2d District regiment, had one or two hundred men ready to re-enlist if there was a bounty paid, and he suggested that Col. A. be consulted in relation to the motion.

Mr. Hollingshead suggested the appointment of a committee to get the names of those subject to draft in the ward. Mr. Steele thought that it would be impossible to get the names, that they would not even give him the exact number at the Provost Mar-Mr. Hollingshead said it was a reasonable request, and was sure that Gen'l Fry would give them every facility. If the list was procured every man could be called on for his $20. Mr. Angus did not believe that any man would refuse to give $20. A gentleman stated that there were from three to four hundred of the 2d D. C. ready to re-enlist. Mr. Hollingshead moved the appointment of a committee to confer with Col. Alexander; which motion prevailed, and Messrs. Hollingshead, Merchant, and Angus were ap-Mr. James Ward remarked that no man, if he was able, should refuse to give to this fund, and that although he was exempt from the draft, being in Government service, his brother and himself would give one hundred dollars each. [Applause.] On motion of H. Steele, a committee of ten to solicit subscriptions was appointed, as follows: Z. Hunt, J. C. Parker, Edward Steer, 1. Mudd, A. G. Hall, R. H. Steele, Robt. McMurray, W. B. Downing, E. R. McKean, G. E. F. Sharretts, and John Meigs.

The following were designated as places where subscriptions to the fund can be left; Parker's, (periodical store,) F street, near 8th; Topham & Co., 500 7th street; W. H. Pope, at the Republican office; Dr. S. E. Tyson's drug store, 9th and L streets; Dr. J. R. Cassin's drug store, 7th and M streets. Mr. Hollingshead moved a committee of three be appointed to wait on the Provost Mar-shal, and obtain a list of those enrolled in the ward; carried, and Messrs. Larner, Steele and Parker were appointed. Mr. Job Angus was elected treasurer.

The meeting then adjourned. It is understood that the committees will commence their work this morning, as but three working days remain for the accemplishment of their objects.

SECOND WARD MCCLELLAN CLUB.-Last night the McClellan Club of the Second Ward met in the Germania Hall, 11th street, near F, to complete its organization. At the hour appointed a quorum was present, and was called to order by the president, Mr. J. F. Haliday, Mr. W. J. Miller secretary. The meeting opened with nine persons present, which number was afterwards swelled by accessions to eleven, at which figure it remained for the evening.

The president aunounced that the constitution of the National Democratic Association was before them for alteration to suit the purpose of the club. It was adopted. [The constitution permits any person to be proposed for membership who is favorable to the nominees of the Chicago Convention, and if no objection is made he is constituted a member by paying $1 initiation fee; if objected to, he lies over till the next meeting for election.]

The club ordered that the meetings be published in the Constitutional Union, Times, Intelligencer and Star papers, and the president and secretary were authorized to make the ar-

This having been completed, Mr. Clampitt moved that the club proceed to appoint marshals for the ward for the procession on the 17th, which was agreed to. Mr. Clampitt proposed G. R. Adams, who declined. After a few moments spent in trying to select a gentleman who would serve, Mr. J. W. Olampitt was appointed marshal and Mr. J. B. Scott Mr. Aiken, Chief Marshal for the 17th, was despondent at the prospect of a large turnout of the Democrats of the Second Ward, and could not account for the small meeting this evening, and hoped that the club would resolve itself into a vigilance committee and collar every Democrat and bring them up to the meeting to morrow night. Mr. A. moved that the secretary be authorized to advertise the meeting to-morrow (Thursday) night, by large posters placed in conspicuous places.

Mr. Adams was opposed to the motion simply because after posting they ought reasonably to expect a meeting of hundreds if not thousands, and they would feel extremely mortified if after all their posting they should meet with but a small company.

Mr. W. J. Miller remarked that the club of the Second ward had no reason to despond. The Lincolnites had a procession after the flag raising at the Mount Vernon House which consisted of about 50, a majority of them soldiers. Mr. Clampitt thought that the mortification should be felt in view of the meeting to-night. If the posters will do any good for the meeting to-morrow night let us have them. The motion of Mr. Aiken was rejected.

It was ordered by the club that Mr. Adams be authorized to make permanent arrangements for the meetings of the club in Germania Hall. The club adjourned till to-morrow (Thursday) night at 7% o'clock.

CORRECTION.—In our report yesterday of the meeting of the Third Ward Democracy at Ten perance Hall, on Tuesday evening, the types made us say that Mr. Henry Lyles was among the Democrats present. It should have been Mr. Henry Lyons. We make this correc-tion in justice to Mr. Lyles, who was not a the meeting, and had no connection with it.

THE POLITICAL CAMPAIGN,-Lincoln and Johnson Club.—This club had a full meeting last night (Mr. L. Clephane in the chair) and quite a swarm of accessions to its membership. Mr. Isaac Bond rose and stated that he was a member of the Society of Friends, and had conscientious scruples in regard to taking up arms. He would enquire if by joining the club he would compromise himself as a Friend? A voice. The club certainly goes in for the vigorous prosecution of the war. [Applause] Mr. Bond. "Well if I can't join I'll give my dollar anyhow;" and amid loud cheering he walked up to the table and laid down his [Laughter.] Mr. Elvans said that as the question had been raised he would move that Mr. Bond be allowed to sign as a full member of the club: which motion was carried, and Mr. Bond went forward, amid much applause, and signed, "Isaac Bond, so far as a consistent member of the Society of the Friends may." Mr. Prince. of Massachusetts, who was called upon to address the meeting, thought that though his friend felt conscientious scruples, he telt in the right place, his pocket Laughter.] Although he (the speaker) had great respect for Penn, Fox, Barclay and others of the Friends, yet he did not feel himself quite good enough to come up to their standard. When he saw the barbarities perpetrated by the rebels in this war he felt a good deal like a barbarian himself. [Laughter.] He felt a good deal like the Philadelphia Quaker, who, when insulted, threw down his outer habiliments, saying. "Lay there, Quaker, while I give this fellow a thrashing." [Laugh-

Mr. Prince entered at some length upon a review of the military career of Gen. McClel-While conceding that Gen. McClellan was of unexceptionable private character, he considered him as a military man a good deal of a humbug. As to his political principles or statesmanship, he had made no exhibit by which we can judge. As to the expectation that McClellan would get a large army vote, it was sufficient to say that not more than two-fifths of the present army of McClellan ever served under McClellan, and as for the great army of the West, which believes in Sherman, Rosecrans and Thomas, that army would laugh at the idea of voting for McClellan. [Applause and laughter.]

Mr. Prince proceeded to contrast the unharmonious platform of the Democracy, with McClellan at one end and Pendleton at the other, and Vallandingham, Wood & Co., scattered around miscellaneously thereon, with the harmonious Union platform, bearing Abraham Lincoln and glorious Andrew Johnson. This war he held was a blessing rather than a curse. It had deepened and itensified American nationality, and would rid us of the great curse of chattel slavery. [Applause.] No Quorum .- An adjourned meeting of the Third ward Democracy was to be held last night at the New Market Hall, corner 9th and B streets, but up to a quarter of nine o'clock, none of the officers of the former meeting having made their appearance, the six or eight gentlemen who had assembled there quietly dispersed after taking a drink at the bar under FIRE.-Last evening the slaughter house of Michael Homilier, corner 13th and K streets,
